BRIEF BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION:

Trish Propson is a California native who makes her home in Northeastern Wisconsin. She holds degrees in Communication, Sociology, Design, and Marketing. Trish owns Cornerstone Communications Company, where she provides marketing and communication services to non-profit and ministry organizations, and start-up businesses. Trish is a newspaper columnist and published author. Her work has been published in Guideposts, Love is a Verb with Dr. Gary Chapman, and various other devotional books for Bethany House and Barbour Publishing. Her two-book Bible Study, Raising Little Women of God: A Discipleship Journey for Mothers and Daughters and Connecting with Christ at Passover: An interactive Seder Experience are now available. Growing up in a broken and abusive home where God was hated, she lived in a volatile world of anger, sexual abuse, and atheism. God saved her at the age of 25 and she has devoted her life to serving Him. She is passionate about knowing God and helping others find His purpose for their lives. She serves as a conference and retreat speaker for women, teens, and families through her family advocacy organization, rekenekt. SPEAKER INTRODUCTION:

Our speaker today is Trish Propson. She lives in Kaukauna, Wisconsin. Trish is a marketing consultant for non-profit organizations, but spends most of her time writing, and developing rekenekt(reconnect) an organization designed to help families, women and youth strengthen their important relationships by connecting and getting new conversations started.

She has been called compassionate, bold, and a little dangerous and hopes people remember her best as a passionate and empathetic lover of people. She says a good day is crossing paths with strangers who need a reminder that God loves them and is at work in their circumstance.

Please welcome Trish.
