Reconnecting people with hope across generations

PERSONAL STATEMENT

People call me a bold and compassionate people person. I have enjoyed a long, professional career providing strategic marketing communication services for non-profit organizations. As an author and speaker, I have enthusiastically used the pain of my past and my journey towards healing to help others find comfort and healing in their own situation. Developing a family advocacy program called rekenekt has provided speaking and writing opportunities to share a message of hope and healing in both faith based and secular settings to multi-generational audiences. I recently earned licensing as a marketplace crisis chaplain and am pursuing a counseling certification.
